(Singapore, 18 April 2018) – With a ‘Flavours of Jiangnan’ (江南风味) menu inspired by Emperor Qian Long’s affection for Jiangnan, guests now have the chance to dine like a king at Si Chuan Dou Hua Restaurant, PARKROYAL on Kitchener Road. Executive Cantonese Chef Leung Wing Chung (执行广东主厨梁永祥师傅) has designed a menu of 18 famed dishes from Jiangnan (South of Yangtze river in China), a region which Emperor Qian Long – like his grandfather Emperor Kangxi – was fond of visiting.

Jiangnan encompasses major cities such as Nanjing, Changzhou, Wuxi, Suzhou, Shanghai, Hangzhou, and Ningbo, and the hallmark of its most popular dishes is widely considered to be its sweet and savoury flavours. Available at only S$18++ each from now till 30 June 2018, Chef Leung presents Jiangnan’s classic dishes, infused with his own creative twists.

the meat just a tinge of citrusy flavours. Resembling a drumstick, the meat roll is deep-fried with soy bean crumbs and is crusty on the outside and tender on the inside.

Originating from Zhejiang, China, the Pork Ribs with "Zhejiang" Vinegar in Zhenjiang Style (浙江镇江骨) is a classic and well-loved dish of tender pork ribs braised in a claypot with black vinegar. Taking over three hours to marinate and braise, the pork ribs are soft and fall off the bone easily. Each bite brings out the fragrant, delicately balanced sweet and sour flavours.

Made with Kurobuta pork, prawn paste, BBQ chicken liver, ham and rose wine, the lesser known but equally sumptuous Deep-fried Chicken Roll in "Daliang" Style (大良野鸡卷) is a 200-year-old dish. In Chef Leung's rendition, it is served with pandan leaves that are julienned and fried, offering fresh fragrance and crunch, along with a homemade dip of lemon, vinegar, chilli and garlic.

Another classic Cantonese favourite that can be found on the menu is Fish in "Shun De" Style (顺德土鲮鱼), where the mud carp is manually deboned and then stuffed with fish paste mixed with coriander, mushroom, black moss and diced chestnuts for the extra crunch, before it is fried to crisp perfection.
